In conjunction with the tour but not among the officially listed homes is the commandant's house at the Marine Corps Barracks.

General David Shoup, Marine Corps Commandant, is opening his house during tour hours but does not feel that his government-owned home should be used to assist a money-raising project. He thus is issuing 300 free tickets for entrance--these may be obtained at tour headquarters or by contacting Mrs. Peter Glickert, telephone LI 4-4611.
