Make a Mobile

submitted by Sharon Cochran

This summer and early fall, Mobilizing Our Community will bring 100+ diverse DC residents together with kinetic artist Kevin Reese to create 50+ high-flying mobiles that will be installed at the Atlas Performing Arts Center. The theme of the project is "balance and connection in our evolving city." The pieces of the mobile are being created by people of all ages in workshops at the Atlas and throughout the community. Working under the guidance of the artist, participants draw, cut out, sand, paint, lay to wire, and balance the pieces. The final installation, which will open at the H Street Festival and hang through September 26 (Art all Night), will be a wonderful visual celebration of many parts coming together to create a whole.

Community workshops will be held at the Atlas Theater, 1333 H St. NE, from 1-4 p.m. on Saturday, August 15; Monday, September 7; and Saturday, September 12. During the workshops, people will create pieces for the mobiles and balance finished pieces created by other people in the community. Workshops are most suitable for ages 8 and up. They are free but tickets must be reserved. Visit www.atlasarts.org/news/mobilizing-our-community or call the box office at 399-7993.

A Literary Feast

The Literary Feast is a series of dinner parties held at homes across Capitol Hill all on one evening. Each dinner features food and fun related to a specific book. Proceeds support the Capitol Hill Community Foundation's Grants to Neighborhood Schools. In 2014, grants totaling more than $100,000 were given to fund special projects and programs for our school children.

This year's event will be held October 17 and organizers are already busy recruiting hosts willing to open their homes and serve dinner to support this effort. If you would like to cook or host, they would be ecstatic to hear from you. Email info@aliteraryfeast.org to volunteer. For more information visit www.aliteraryfeast.org.

Recycling Advice

DC Recycler, a guide to recycling and greening in Washington, DC, has information on how to ensure that your recyclable materials don't end up in a landfill. Visit www.dcrecycler.blogspot.com.

Or join Freecycle, a yahoo group where you offer up what you don't want anymore; folks who are interested respond, and then you arrange for them to get it. You can also request items you might like to have that others want to get rid of.

Little Free Libraries

What is a Little Free Library (LFL)? It's a weatherproof box/display case where anyone may stop by and pick up books or drop off books to share. If you have books you no longer want, please consider placing them in your nearest LFL rather than leaving them on the curb to be damaged by rain on their way to a landfill.

There are several LFLs in or near the Buzz distribution area: 909 F St. NE, 1434 F St. NE, 121 12th St. NE, 1229 East Capitol St. SE, and another near the Maury playground on the 200 block of 13th St. NE. This last one is very large and has many children's books.

For information on how you can establish your own LFL, visit littlefreelibrary.org.
